

Malcolm Campbell Memorial Prize 2023

To continue the commemoration of his outstanding contributions in a broad range of chemistry and their application to the understanding of bioactivity, the Biological and Medicinal Chemistry Sector of the Royal Society of Chemistry is proud to invite nominations for the ninth Malcolm Campbell Memorial Prize. The prize will be awarded to the individual or team based in UK academia or industry who, in the judgement of the BMCS committee, has made the most significant scientific contribution to biological chemistry. Nominations could be from either discovery and/or process development and include medicinal, agrochemical or aromachemical research. The work should be timely and contemporaneous. A medal and certificate will be awarded to accompany the prize of £2,000.

Nominations should be submitted no later than 31 October 2022 to:
RSC-BMCS Secretariat, Hg3 Conferences Ltd, email: events@hg3.co.uk

For further details, please access the activities link on www.rsc.org/bmcs.

